For his new CD, now the seventh release at NEOS, René Wohlhauser has put together a fine selection of chamber works. The vocal works contained therein reveal a great deal about the personality of the Swiss composer, especially about his very own way of dealing with language: here – as in the title composition ReBruAla – he consistently set his own poems to music.

The main work in the program is The Great Vocal Trilogy »Three Songs«, a cycle of three songs with different instrumentation, which are less connected in terms of content than by a concentrated aesthetic, each playing with a creative thought.
